Expert Insights: Terms and Conditions

Disclaimer

The Expert Insights program is an unpaid opportunity intended to provide industry professionals with a platform to share insights and expertise in regulatory affairs. Contributors will not receive financial compensation for their submissions, and Accorto Regulatory Solutions does not accept payments to publish content. Articles are evaluated based solely on their relevance, quality, and alignment with Accorto's mission to inform and educate stakeholders in regulated industries.

By submitting your proposal, you agree to the following terms:

1. Credit & Recognition
- Acknowledgment: Accepted articles will be prominently featured on the Accorto blog, with full credit to the author. This ensures contributors receive recognition for their expertise and thought leadership.
- Author Bio: A short biography, written by the author, will accompany the article. Authors may include a professional photo, a brief description of their background (100 words max), and a link to their LinkedIn profile or website. Accorto reserves the right to edit the bio for formatting or consistency with the platform's design.
- Promotion: Articles may be shared on Accorto's official LinkedIn account, newsletter, or other digital channels, amplifying the author's reach and visibility.

2. Exclusive Publication
- Original Work: Articles must be unpublished, original content created specifically for submission to Accorto. Plagiarized or substantially duplicated content will be rejected outright.
- Exclusivity Period: Once published, the article must remain exclusive to Accorto Regulatory Solutions for a minimum of 90 days. During this time, authors may not republish the article, in whole or part, on other platforms (e.g., personal blogs, Medium, or third-party publications).

3. Editing Rights
- Minor Edits: Accorto reserves the right to make minor edits to submissions, such as correcting grammar, adjusting formatting, and improving readability, without altering the core message.
- Collaborative Review: For significant edits that may impact the article's tone, structure, or technical accuracy, Accorto will consult the author and request approval prior to publication.
- Editorial Standards: All content must align with Accorto's voice, standards, and professional tone. Authors will receive clear feedback if their submission requires substantial revisions before acceptance.

4. Ownership & Intellectual Property

- Retained Rights: Authors retain ownership of their content and may repurpose it after the exclusivity period.
- License to Use: By submitting an article, the author grants Accorto Regulatory Solutions a non-exclusive, perpetual license to use, reproduce, and distribute the content across various channels, including the website, social media, newsletters, and other promotional materials.
- Retention Period: This license remains valid for a minimum of five (5) years following publication. Accorto reserves the right to archive the content on its platforms indefinitely unless otherwise requested by the author.

5. Original Content
- Authenticity Required: Submitted content must be the original work of the author. Submissions generated by AI tools (e.g., ChatGPT, Bard) without substantial human editing or verification will be rejected.
- Plagiarism Policy: Any plagiarized material will result in immediate disqualification from current and future participation in the program. Accorto takes originality seriously and employs plagiarism detection tools to ensure compliance.

6. Right to Decline
- Content Alignment: Submissions must align with Accorto's mission to provide actionable insights and value to stakeholders in regulated industries. Submissions outside the scope of these areas may be declined.
- Quality Standards: Articles that fail to meet Accorto's editorial standards, including poor grammar, unclear structure, or insufficient depth, will not be accepted. Accorto reserves the right to reject submissions without providing detailed feedback, though general improvement recommendations may be shared upon request.

Additional Notes
- Confidentiality: Authors are advised not to include any proprietary or sensitive information in their submissions that they are not authorized to share publicly.
- Withdrawal Requests: Authors who wish to withdraw their submissions must notify Accorto before publication. Once published, the article cannot be removed without a formal written request and approval.
